KISKITAS

1968

Mr. Lynn E. Alter

We, the graduating class of 1968, fondly remember our junior high school years. From these memorable years we especially remember Mr. Alter, who will always remain an outstanding teacher and lasting friend to all of us. He always greeted us with a smile and a pun. The smile was to communicate his feeling toward us, and the pun usually made the feeling mutual.

Mr. Alter, who marked his tenth year of teaching this year, likes to work with young people. He enjoys teaching them, stirring up their enthusiasm, and watching them grow. He finds that his "junior high sense of humor" helps him achieve his aims.

Our English classes were by no means dull or commonplace. No one will forget our weekly spelling tests, the first time we had to get up in front of the class for oral interpretations, and the red printed definitions we wrote into our notebooks. And how could anyone forget Mr. Alter's "walking up the blackboard" on the last day of school?

In assuming sponsorship of the Junior High Book Club and the National Honor Society, he has taken on extra responsibilities. To show our gratitude and respect to a very special person, we dedicate the 1968 Kiskitas to Mr. Lynn E. Alter.

THE NEGRO by David Columbus

An old beer can is Jimmy's football. A barrel ring is his basket. A paper bag is his basketball. It does not bounce. He has only one yard, a back yard. In it is a tire swing, rough and uncomfortable. These are Jimmy's luxuries.

Jimmy's situation illustrates the problem of the Negro in the slums. It is a very real problem. We do not pretend that it does not exist. But the Black can when he wants to release himself from the stench of these ghettos. He can, for example, succeed in public life. Negro men and women have held high and important jobs in federal, state, and local government. They have worked hard to become what they are today. Some of these prominent leaders are: Carl Stokes, Mayor of Cleveland, and Supreme Court Judge Thurgood Marshall. And if these people have made it, then there is no reason why the other Negroes cannot do the same either publically or in some other field. They must put mind and body to this task.

But much too often these illiterate Blacks think that these selected few, as they view it, were spoon-fed on a silver platter. They say there is no future. The colored person does not want to try anything because of how he was brought up in the rat-infested tenement houses. And he says, "Why go any further?" I have had poor education and up-bringing." They have it locked in their minds that this is the best way of living. Someone must prove to these Negroes that sunlight and beauty really are and have been over them. If they will open their eyes to it, there is still a chance. But they have decided to use as a means of escape, violence, instead of hard steady work.

Violence is thought by many Negroes as a means of escape. There have been racial riots in many American cities. These colored people wanted to show to the people that they are being mistreated. This is the wrong way of proving their point. They should prove it by working as a united group with non-violence. There have been groups organized to combat violence. These groups are doing their best to break the mistrust between the Caucasian and the Negro. The NA.A.C.P., for example, which was founded in 1909, has helped a great deal in the advancement of the colored person.

It is clear that if the Negro will work in unified non-violence he will be on his way out of the rat-infested tenement houses which now engulf him. But if these race riots continue, these Blacks will be buried alive because of their thoughtlessness. Then there will be no way out.

POLICE BRUTALITY AND CRIMINALS' RIGHTS by Kathy Burns

One of the most controversial issues in the United States today is the recent Supreme Court rulings concerning police brutality and criminals' rights. Just what is police brutality, and where is the line drawn? Has the Supreme Court gone so far in worrying about criminals' rights, so far in worrying about questioning an individual who may be innocent, that it has forgotten the security of society as a whole?

Just what is meant by the term "police brutality"? To ten different people, police brutality would probably have ten different meanings. To one person, it might mean going to the extreme of beating a suspect with a nightstick; while, on the other hand, a simple shove by a policeman may provoke a cry of police brutality.

It is undoubtedly true that there are occasional cases of police brutality occurring. After all, our police force is composed of an average cross-section of the people. At times they may be a little more severe than necessary, but does that mean that we should all stand and point our fingers at all policemen and say, "Tch, tch, naughty policemen"? People in other professions are excused from an occasional outburst of impatience, but, when a policeman, who often has even more to be impatient about, handles a suspect or criminal a little more roughly than the public thinks he should, he is booed and hissed. In fact, a policeman can be arrested, tried, and convicted, resulting in a fine or imprisonment, for a lesser infraction of the law than the "poor, mistreated criminal" who is released because of alleged misconduct.

Recent Supreme Court rulings have added to the already tremendously difficult job of the policeman. In a major case last year, four convicts who claimed that their constitutional rights had been violated were released by the Supreme Court. The Court then ruled that upon arrest, a suspect must be informed of these four things: He need not make a statement at all; anything he does say can be used against him if he goes to trial; he can have a lawyer present while being questioned; and, in case he can't afford a lawyer, one will be provided free to him if he desires. A survey taken around the country after the rulings showed that policemen were having more difficulty in getting information from suspects.

The police force is a very important and highly essential part of our society. When a crime is committed, the police are called in to solve the case and thereby protect the innocent party from the guilty one. But, how is the policeman to do this if he is so busy protecting the guilty party from the law that he does not even have time to look at the case. When the interests of society as a whole are placed in jeopardy, then too much emphasis has been placed on individual rights.

A cartoon in a recent publication nicely depicted the situation of police brutality and criminal rights. A bearded, rebellious youth being dragged along by four policemen remarks, "I'm placing you all under citizens' arrest." It is true that this is exaggerated a little, but if the present trend continues, it may soon be no longer the subject of a cartoon. It will be true. In a recent issue, the Evening Star made an apposite observation when it said, "Criminals and criminal suspects have come to enjoy a privileged status . . . It is small wonder that the crime rate continues to rise."

It would seem that (to some people), the ideal solution to the whole problem is elimination of the police force. Not only would this cut taxes, but, no longer would criminals' rights be infringed upon. Individuals would have more money to spend, more people to steal from, and more property to destroy. So, as we close, we see a new campaign sweeping the country, "Insure your rights, eliminate the police force."

THE FAMILY WAY

by John Bowser

On Friday nights, my Mother always gives herself a home permanent. So every Friday after school, I grab my flight log and hurry out to the airport, where Mother is waiting. Once in the air, I rapidly climb to 2160 feet and Mother bails out. From the plane I watch as she gingerly floats through the air while giving herself a Lilt permanent. Why rent an airplane? Why not go to a beauty shop? That would be absurd and old-fashioned.

As my Mother joins the line of women at the airport, my Father joins the throngs of bearded men. He, as many others, insists on that "water-soaked beard" feeling, so he only shaves when it rains. On a rainy day, he dons a raincoat, grabs his razor and shaving cream, and leaves the house. Hours later, he will return clean-shaven. (However, Mother is threatening to move to the rainforest.)

As up-to-date as the parents are, the offspring are more so. Gone are the days when pop was for drinking. It is now useful in many different fields. My sister-in-law in Texas has a vast assortment of winter coats. Everytime she starts to drink some Fresca, she needs a winter coat. And the neighborhood kids over-run the house. Why when the temperature is 103 degrees outside and Linda starts a snow storm with a Fresca, what does one expect? Or take my other sister-in-law, Judy. She will not drink pop, yet she buys Sprite by the carton. She enjoys listening to it fizz. However, old-fashioned Richard is becoming tired of drinking flat pop after she is finished listening to it.

The next generation of the family is even more ultra-modern than their parents. Take my young nephew for example. After he is finished eating his breakfast eggs, he pours a large bowl of Rice Krispies. He listens to them SNAP! CRACKLE! POP!; then feeds the slushy cereal to the dog. (Incidentally, slushy Rice Krispies is a good substitute for dog food.)

My nephew's father, Richard, continues the modern approach. Richard is considering buying stock in a white hat company. With the Dodge Rebellion in full swing, stock in white hats should go up. And since "all the good guys wear white hats," the police will soon be buying them. It follows that criminals, not wanting to stand out, will also be buying them. Since the good guys always win, one may assume that all the football teams will soon be steady customers for white helmets.

I have a niece who wanted to continue this modernistic trend, but she was forced into switching toothpaste. One day while walking home from school, she was mobbed by a gang of boys. Since she is only five years old, her mother made an investigation. Yes, it was that new toothpaste, Ultra-bright. What matters if it tastes like gasoline?

Having mentioned the young and middle aged family members, I must not forget the oldest one. Granny was overcome by the results of her last dental check-up. She came hobbling home shouting that she had no cavities. You know, it just could be the Crest. On the other hand, it could be that Granny has dentures.

Yes, folks, that is the typical, all-American family. Or, come to think of it, they may even be a bit conservative.

A TROUBLESOME SITUATION

by Ann Guthrie

In the summer of 1967 the news was filled with labor strikes and hotel strikes. All of these strikes affected adults. There was one though that affected children, and this was the teachers strike. In all parts of the country teachers went on strike for many reasons. Teachers wanted a better salary. They said they needed new disciplinary action and new laws to enforce this action. Another complaint from the teachers was that they needed new materials and smaller classrooms. All of these complaints and many more were mounting through the years. This year teachers let the public know about their problems.

When a person goes into teaching he must realize that it is not the highest paying job in the world, but it should not be the lowest. Today all other professions outrank education in salary. Plumbers receive, on the average, $8570 a year; electricians, $9617; and coal miners, $7919. Some people in other vocations, requiring a minimum of education, earn more than teachers. Most electronics students when they first graduate earn more than starting teachers. Teachers receive on the average only $6900 a year. If the salary is not raised there will be no interest in this field, and the profession will suffer. Already there is a shortage of teachers and if the problem is not remedied it will become worse in the future. Teachers do not have to stay in this field, because other industries will gladly pay more for their services.

Teachers have not only a salary problem but also a discipline problem. The books Blackboard Jungle and Up the Down Staircase point out some of these problems in big city schools. One ruffian can disrupt the whole class. Teachers need more power! New York striking teachers propose a law that if a student causes trouble in a class the teacher has the power to remove him permanently from that class. It is unfortunate that Negro leaders have misinterpreted this law. They feel that white prejudiced teachers will use this law to remove Negro students. Their fear is understandable but unrealistic.

Besides salary and discipline there are two other problems. First, is the problem of getting smaller classrooms. A teacher cannot get a lesson across with forty-five students in his class. And he cannot give as much attention to each student as he would like. Slow learners may be put into a big group and this makes the problem worse. This was another aim of New York striking teachers, to increase the More Effective Schools program for disadvantaged children and to place them in smaller classrooms. Second is the problem of choosing and receiving new material. It is impossible to teach a class without the proper materials.

All citizens realize that laws are not to be broken. The particular law I am talking about forbids public workers to strike. Teachers are part of this group. But they have waited long enough. Teachers have tried to settle their complaints by talks and conferences with school boards, local and state officials with no success. Teachers have known the nature of the problem for years – now the public will know.

WHAT'S SO GOOD ABOUT IT?

by Jackie Swenson

Each morning I wake up to hear the same old things. Fourteen marines were killed in Vietnam. Fire destroyed a two-story house. Four people were killed and six were hospitalized after a three-car collision. Today will be colder with possible snow. And then the newscaster has the nerve to say, "Good morning."

When I reach the kitchen, my mother says "I fixed you a good breakfast this morning." What's so good about oatmeal, especially when you have oatmeal every morning? Even when I try, I can't think of anything particularly good about oatmeal.

As you can see, my days don't begin on a cheerful note. At school it's even worse. I might write a perfect example of how not to write a theme. When I describe it to a friend, I hear, "That sounds pretty good." I can't think of any reasons to be so completely optimistic about a lousy theme.

But worst of all are the times tests are returned. "What did you get?" I reply "A 'B'." What did you get?" "I got a 'C'." You did pretty good." Pretty good? Sure it's good. But it could have been an "A." If only I hadn't changed number eight from false to true, I would have had an "A."

Good news, good breakfasts, good themes, good grades, good grief! Some people think it's good to be pessimistic. But what's so good about it? It keeps me from expecting something good and then being disappointed. It has also given me an ulcer.

Each and every fall, the students at Apollo High School anxiously await the first football game. This year, as in the past, the games came and went. Although the Tigers only won three games, all was not lost for our team provided many exciting moments of play.

While many of us were busily enjoying our long summer, the football team began early each morning running laps, doing exercises, and practicing hard for the upcoming season. With the accurate coaching of Mr. Morgan, Mr. Setlock, and Mr. Larson and the responsible support from co-captains Dom Duso and Don Davis the roaring team was victorious at the three exciting games. The first win was at Leechburg, where they came out on top 18 to 12. Later in the fall, they outscored Elders Ridge 40 to 0 in the biggest upheaval of the season. The third win was over Mars, where Apollo nipped this new rival 27 to 26.

As always, some players stood out in the ratings, but essentially the fans saw team effort with cooperation from each player. A promising future is expected and we wish much success to future Tiger teams!

The Final Tally

Saltsburg 20 Apollo 6

Despite much team effort, Apollo was beaten in the season opener 20-6. Don Black was the leading yard gainer with 46 yards. Don Davis made the only touchdown of the evening.

Franklin 32 Apollo 13

Apollo halfback Don Davis scored the only two touchdowns of the evening. One of them was made by returning the kickoff 80 yards. The extra point was made by Bob Shaeffer.

Trafford 14 Apollo 0

Apollo was held scoreless even though the Tiger offense and defense stiffened during the second half. Gary Gloud was the leading yard gainer for the evening.

East Deer 33 Apollo 7

For the first time in six years, Apollo fell to Edfra. The only touchdown was scored by Gary Gloud, and the extra point was kicked by Shaeffer. Reserve quarterback Blystone hooked the ball to Cloud for the 31-yard scoring strike.

Leechburg 12 Apollo 18

Running neck to neck, Apollo managed to hold the Blue Devils down with a touchdown's difference. All Apollo scoring was done by Don Davis. This victory over Leechburg was a "first" in six years play with the Devils.

Shannock Valley 19 Appollo 14

Although Apollo won the statistic race, Shaval outscored them in the point column. Cloud and Shaeffer scored, and Shaeffer's extra points were good. Apollo controlled the ball most of the game, but could not overcome the deficit.

Elders Ridge 0 Apollo 40

Touchdowns by Shaeffer, Fryer, Davis and Stefanick brought victory to the Tigers. The slick moving offense was accented by a smooth pass and catch combination in Don Black and Bob Shaeffer. This was the finest example of team effort the fans had witnessed all season.

Mars 26 Apollo 27

Apollo came from behind to slip by Mars in the most exciting game of the season. Davis, Cloud and Shaeffer scored. As the end of the game came near, Mars came into field goal range. One was attempted but because of a penalty, against Mars, the three points did not count. The Apollo Tigers came out on top for their third win.

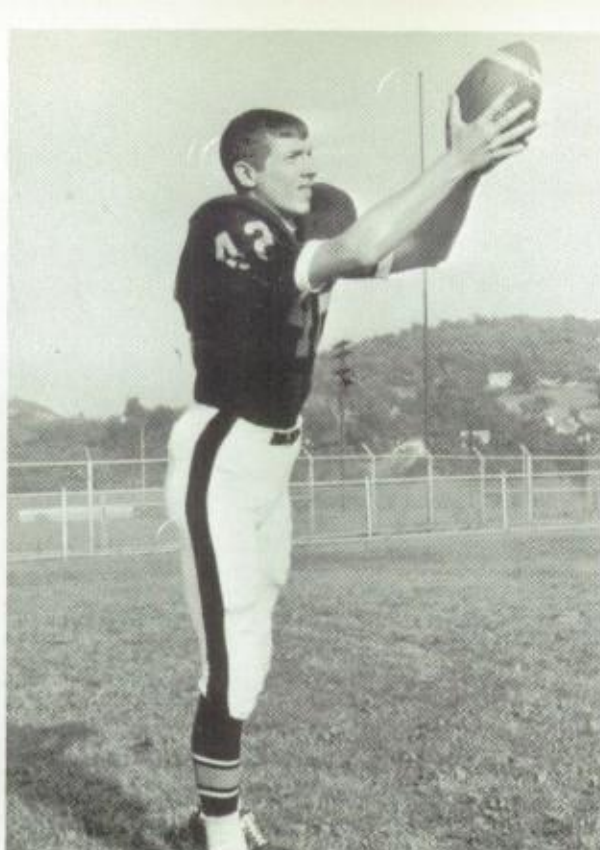

Oakmont 32 Apollo 7

The Tigers were unable to curtail the mighty Oaks as they grabbed the Section I title. Shaeffer grabbed the only touchdown from Dave Wray and went on to kick the extra point.

Thus, the Tigers finished the season with a record of three wins and six loses.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Under the guidance of the coach, Mr. Phil Murphy, the Apollo Basketball team came up with another winning season. The league record showed eight wins and six losses. But the record did not show the determination and sportsmanship our team displayed throughout the season. These qualities were seen in all games, no matter whether the team won or lost.

Don Davis was top scorer with a total of 347 points and Bob Shaeffer was next with 339 points. Paul Crisswell and Robert Shoemaker helped to manage the team this year. The basketball team will lose only three seniors so we feel sure that next year will produce another winning season. The student body wishes next year's team and coach the best of luck.

JUNIOR VARSITY

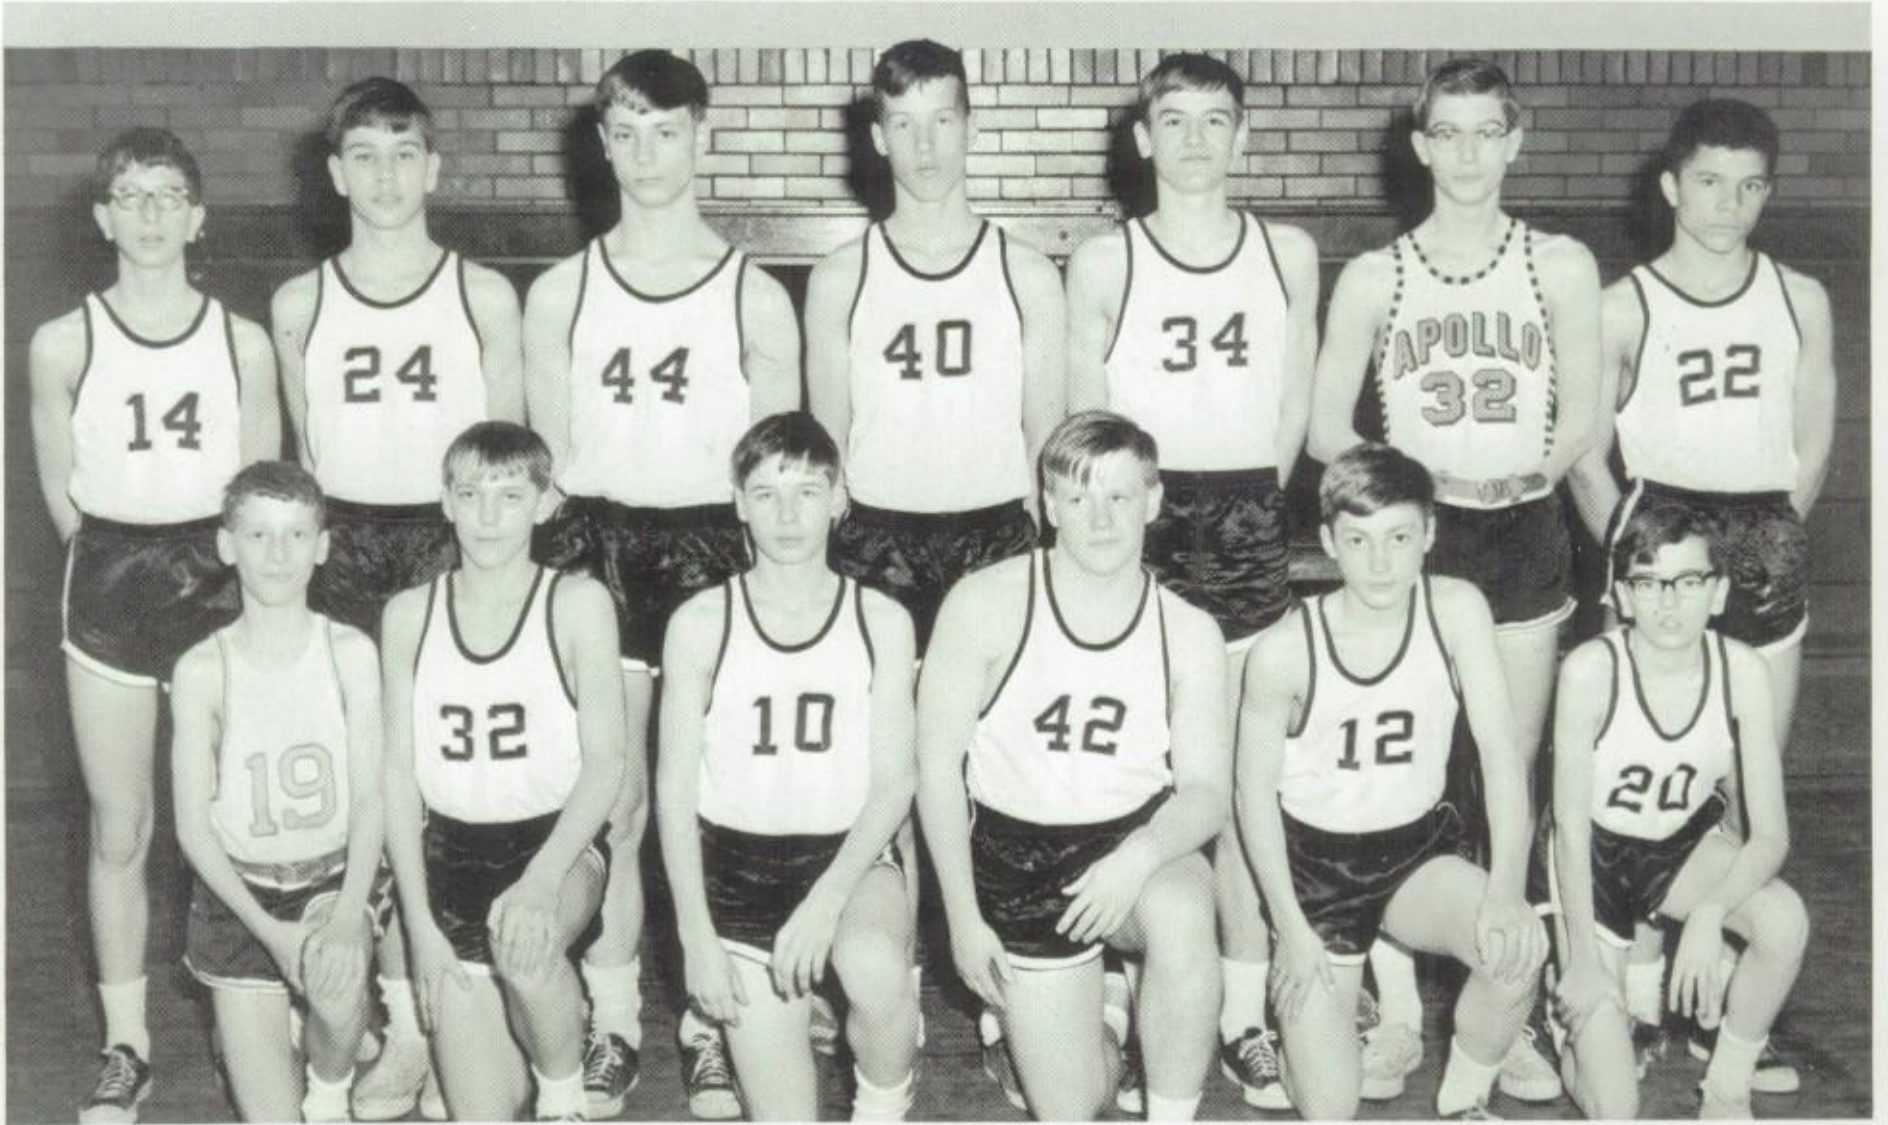

The picture portrayed by the Junior Varsity basketball team this year was one of success and promise. The J.V.'s, under the apt coaching of Philip Murphy, won 8 of their 14 games. Many of the players participated in varsity games, also enabling them to gain much experience for the future. This season was hopeful as it showed that the J.V.'s would be adequately prepared to fill the shoes of our varsity players in years to come. Top scorer for the season was Bill Faber with 258 points. Paul Columbus and Bernie Blystone were close behind with 187 and 176 respectively. Managers for this year's team were Marshall Sowers, Jerry Kennedy, and Jim Andrews. With the determination and good sportsmanship displayed by the Junior Varsity squad, future basketball seasons are sure to be successful!

The Junior High basketball team organized in Apollo four years ago has proved to be a very valuable asset to the sports program. At first the Jr. High games drew very few spectators, but this past season interest increased as old rivalries with Washington Twp. and Vandergrift were renewed. This year the team had better luck in the scoring column. Although it's true the team won only four games, it's also true that they lost some heartbreakers and very seldom was the score lopsided.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Lombardi the boys learned not only the fundamentals of basketball, team play, and team spirit, but they also learned to be good sports. These qualities are essential to a team if the team is to be a winner. Success for these boys is not determined by the number of games that they won but by how well the boys learned under Mr. Lombardi. The season this year was a success.

"Home Run!" This old familiar baseball term was once again heard last year by Coach Charles Bonello as Apollo added baseball to its list of sports and activities. 1967 marked the first time Apollo fielded a diamond team since 1955 when Mr. Afanesko was coach.

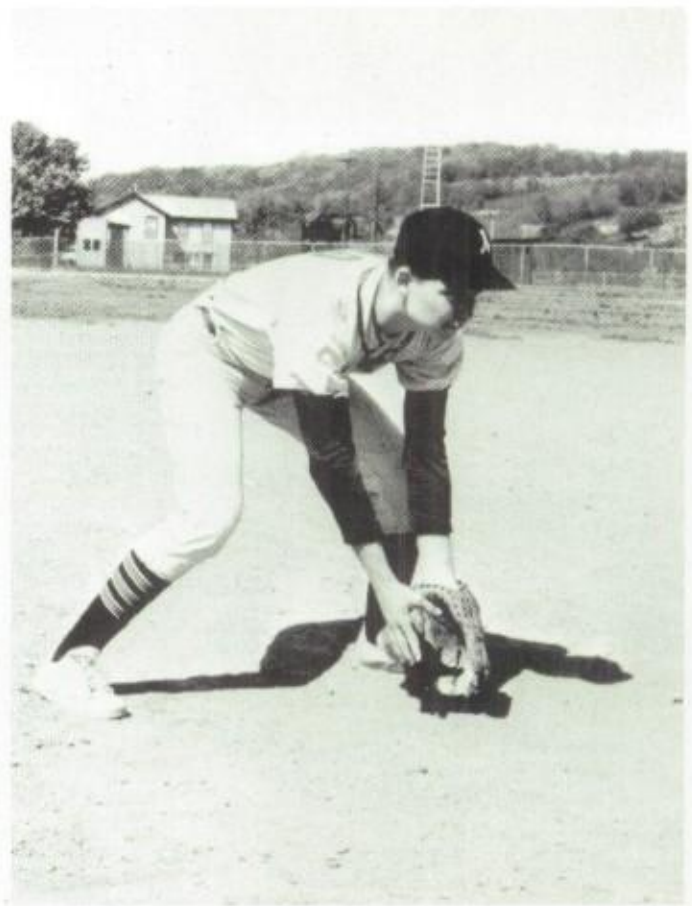

Coach Bonello had a predominately senior team in the schools return to the sport. Terry Miller and Chuck Lamana, both seniors of 1967, were among the top players with the highest batting averages.

This year's senior lettermen participating are Don Black at shortstop, Mitch Fryer at third base, Dom Duso, a defensive specialist in the outfield, Dave Wray in the infield, and Jim Waltenbaugh in the outfield.

The return of baseball to AHS brought about enthusiastic comments from both students and adults. The team proved to be victorious as Coach Bonello trained some of the top hurlers in the Valley. The student body is backing an annual baseball team and hopes that the future will hold as bright as the past for victory in this sport.

Track has become increasingly popular at Apollo as this sports feature completed its fifth successful season under the apt sponsorship of Coach Elmer Morgan. Although lack of a track field causes us to play all of our meets away, this hinderance has had no effect on the team. The coach and team still have high hopes of obtaining our own track field in the near future.

The three cindermen who represent the 67-68 track team as tri-captains are Bob Poydence, John Bowser, and Ben Robinson. These boys, like many others on the team, are not only experienced but have also lettered in the sport in past years.

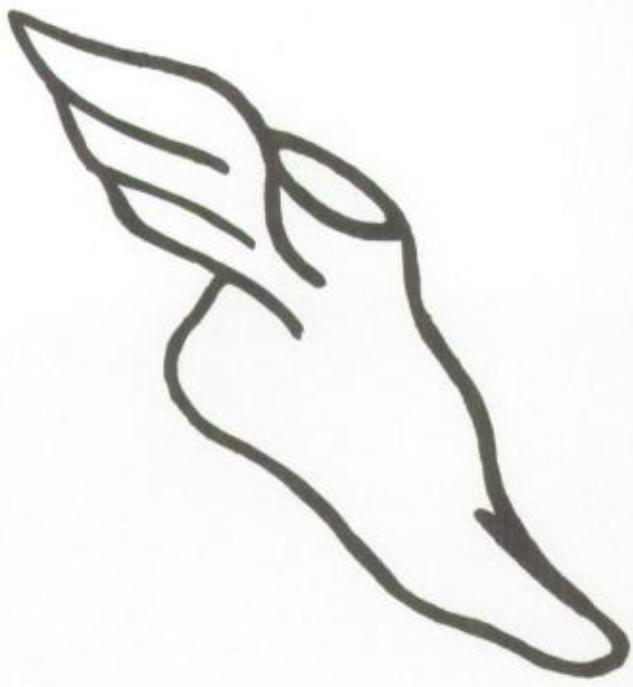

A favorite aspect of track is that it gives the members a chance to excell individually rather than as a team. A co-operative attitude is still demanded, however, as Coach Morgan urges his cindermen to play and run to the best of their ability.

VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

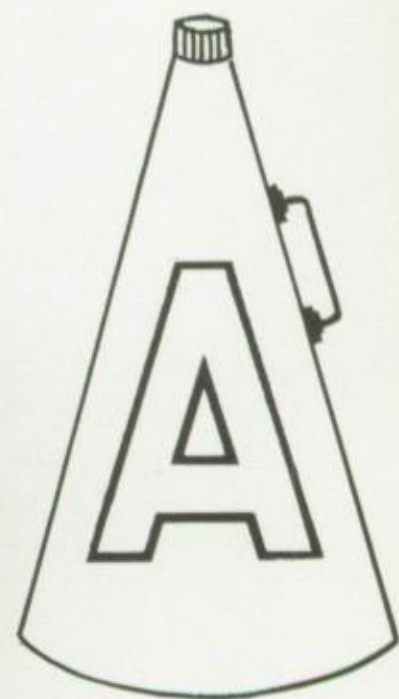

Two essential groups which sharpen morale at pep assemblies and arouse spirit at football and basketball games are the Varsity and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. Their work began last summer with practice sessions early each morning. New routines and new and revised cheers were learned during these practice experiences.

These girls are a welcome aspect at Apollo High School during sport events. In addition to their regular cheerleading duties, the girls sell line-ups before the games, solicit for Tiger boosters, and provide candy for sale during basketball games.

The cheerleaders do all they can to contribute to victory, team spirit, and success. For this, they will always be remembered by the student body.

Preceding our band in all public exhibitions is the colorguard. These seven girls, headed by Sergeant Cathy Rearick, made their appearance this year with new uniforms; black sweaters, white blouses, orange and black checked mini-kilts and matching tams.

This year, in addition to carrying the colors of our school and of our nation, two members of the group also carried white guns. This made their routines during football games and parades even more enjoyable. Again, as in the past, the color guard has done a commendable job.

Look at the athletes! Well, these girls give it a good try anyway. This year the members of the Girls' Sports Club and Girls' Athletic Association, sponsored by Miss Donna Johnson, have participated in such activities as volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, and other sports. The Girls' Sport Club, which meets every Thursday evening, is for the freshman and sophomore girls. While the Girls' Athletic Association, which meets every Monday evening, is for the junior and senior girls. These two organizations combine their efforts each spring to present the annual gym exhibition.

Under the direction of the officers, Toni Milie, head of volleyball; Michelle Rebyanski, Treasurer; and Sue Cadwell, Point Recorder, the G.S.C. enjoyed a very successful season. Providing the leadership for the G.A.A. were: Laura Crusan, President; Pete Brayshaw, Secretary-Treasurer; and Jean Stefanik, head of volleyball. These girls have also had a successful and enjoyable season.

Both groups accumulate points by participating in events, and awards are then presented to the girls who are eligible.

A traveling volleyball team was elected by the junior and senior girls. Those elected were: Laura Crusan, Jean Stefanik, Pete Brayshaw, Betty Stefanik, Cindy Rosensteel, Jane Ferrero, Cindy Walker, Sandy Carney, and Vicki Lovisa. Marsha Swank and Christa Williams were alternates. These girls competed at a tournament, and we are proud to say that they brought the school an unanimous victory.

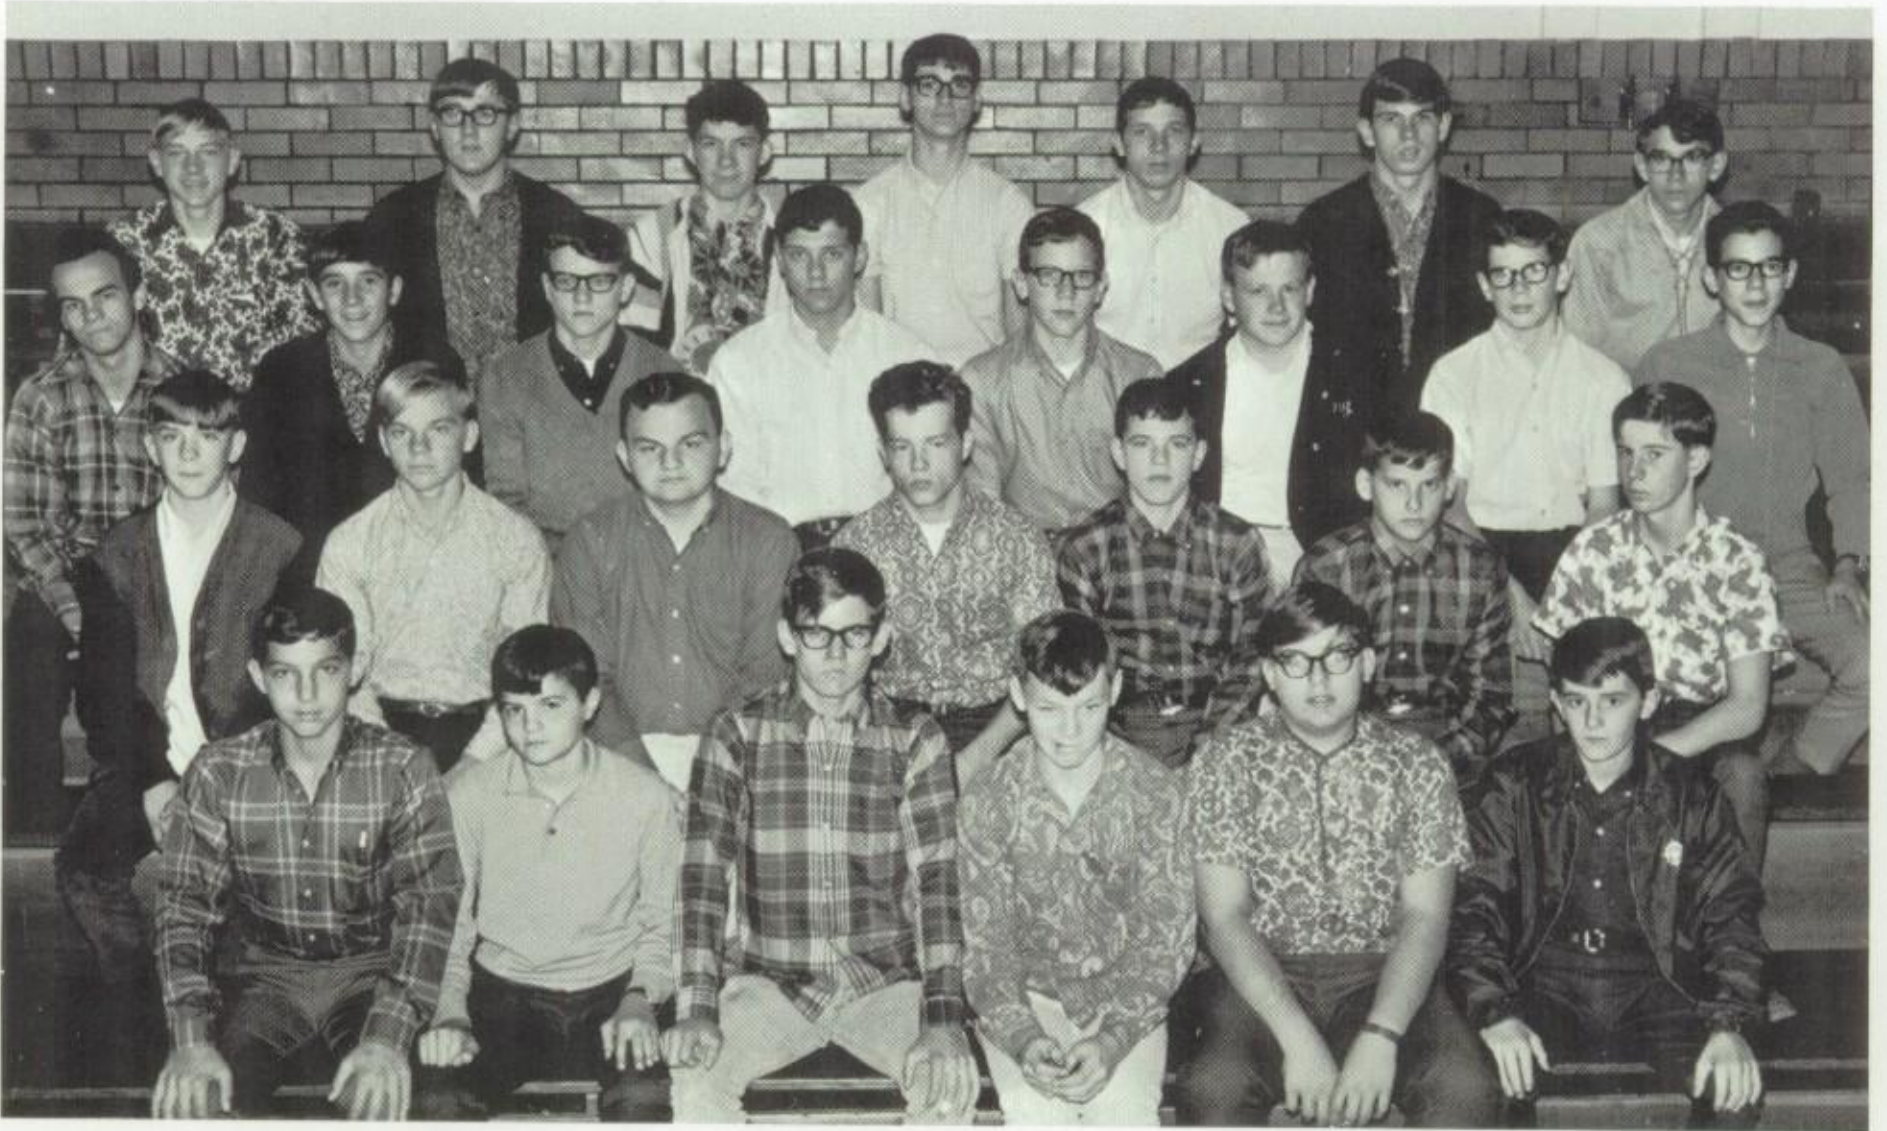

These two organizations are aimed at teaching the girls good sportsmanship besides increasing their skill in various sports; and we must admit, they are doing a pretty good job.

Under the guidance of Mr. Shremshock, the Gymnastics Club was organized to improve the boys' gymnastic skills. In addition to meetings in activity period, the boys also have regular meetings in the evenings. These boys worked hard this year perfecting routines which were performed in the annual gym exhibition.

Not to be outdone by the boys, the girls decided this year to organize their own gym club. This new organization is comprised of 7th and 8th grade girls. Because the response was so great the sponsor, Mrs. Barbara Blevins, had to divide the girls into two separate groups. All of the seventh graders met on Friday during activity period and all of the eighth graders met on Tuesday during activity period. Although the seventh grade group did not have officers, the eighth grade group did. These officers were: Sandy Miller, President; Leslie Williams, Secretary; Kelly Blystone, Treasurer; and Terry Richey, Vice President. During activity period the girls of both the seventh and eighth grade groups practice tumbling and as a special project Colleen Bellas has been teaching them ballet. The GSC and the GAA should find many prospective members among the girls of the seventh and eighth grade gym clubs.

Determination, ability, sportsmanship, and character are some of the qualities that the members of our Varsity Club possess. This year the club functioned under the able leadership of their new sponsor, Mr. Elmer Morgan. To become a member of this elite group, a boy must earn a letter by participating in football, basketball, baseball, or track. A letter can also be earned if a boy assists the coaching staff for two years in the capacity of manager.

Although the club is sponsored by Mr. Morgan, the bulk of the club's affairs are left in the hands of the club's members and officers. The 1967-68 Varsity Club officers are: President, Dom Duso; Vice President, Bob Poydence; Secretary, Pete Criswell; and Treasurer, John Shaeffer. Each year the club purchases jackets for the senior members of the club. The money for these jackets is raised by the boys themselves. They sell ads to the local merchants; these ads appear in the football line-ups. The boys also sponsor a Tag Day and the annual Faculty-Varsity game. The Faculty-Varsity game is one of the highlights of the basketball season and is anticipated eagerly by not only the student body but also by the teachers many of whom actually play in the game. Some of the all-stars who played for the teachers this year were Lt. Fireball Forsman, Setshot Setlock, Looper Larson, Moonball Morgan, Murf the Surf Murphy, Injun Joe Lombardi, and a special guest star, Mr. William Tallarom. The coach for the All-Stars was Mr. Bear Afanesko.

The Varsity Mother's club works in co-operation with the boys of the Varsity Club. They raise money that goes to sponsor the All-Sports banquet which honors the athletes of Apollo High School. The more profitable projects of the Mothers' Club are their many bake sales and dances which they hold in the high school gym.

These boys are impressed with the importance of sportsmanship and good conduct. Their ambitions, their aims, and their standards are an excellent example for all sports participants within the school.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Great Brain Drain

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Seated: J. Shaeffer, B. Frampton, B. Black, C. Hone. Standing: R. Brayshaw, A. Guthrie, K. Burns, B. Mangioficio.

Each spring new members are inducted formally at a special assembly into the National Honor Society. This impressive assembly, which is held in front of the entire student body has often provided inspiration to seventh and eighth graders who see no profit in improving themselves, either scholastically or in character. Membership in this organization is limited to fifteen percent of the Senior Class and ten percent of the Junior Class. To qualify, the student must secure and maintain a "B" or higher scholastic rating. But most important, the candidate must have enthusiasm, scholarship, worthy leadership, fine character, and the desire to render service. Then for requirements for acceptance are the topic of speeches which are presented in the assembly. This year, Robert Frampton explained the qualities of leadership; Kathy Burns, those of service; Ruth Ann Brayshaw, those of character, and Marsha Swank, those of scholarship.

This year, the organization was engaged in a Christmas project that turned out to be a huge success. Toys were collected in the schools for the underprivileged children of Apollo. Mrs. McCausland took charge of delivery and distribution. Other projects were in the process of consideration.

Under the supervision of Mr. Lynn Alter, this year's officers were Robert Frampton, President; Kathy Burns, Vice President; Ruth Ann Brayshaw, Secretary; and Marsha Swank, Treasurer. The organizational meetings were held on the third Monday of every month.

The Isabelle Henry FTA Club which was founded in 1959 has a new sponsor this year. Mrs. Katherine Keibler, who formerly taught in the elementary schools and now teaches Junior High special education, has taken over this job.

The purpose of this organization is to help senior high students decide whether or not teaching is the right field for their talents. Many outlets have been found for the students so they can reach a decision based on experience. One of these outlets is Cadet Teaching in the elementary school. During Teaching Career Month FTA members can teach a whole day for a junior or senior high school teacher. This year some new ideas for teaching experiences have come to the group through Mrs. Keibler. One is to help with kindergarten and another is to help with the classes that are held in the Presbyterian Church. A major teaching experience that is new in AHS was initiated second semester. A list was sent to all teachers asking them if they would like to have a student assistant much like the student secretaries provided by the commercial department. Teachers desiring such assistants were then assigned a volunteer from the membership of the FTA. These young and eager assistants could help the participating teachers correct papers; they could teach a class now and then; they could get an inside view of some of the hard work a teacher must do to prepare his or her work. It was hoped that this project would better enable the prospective teachers make a sound decision as to whether or not they wish to continue into the teaching profession.

Money making projects throughout the years tend to become rather repetitious. This year the FTA came up with some new ones. They held a type of film festival. One night a month they showed a film and charged a nominal fee of 10 or 15 cents. Around Valentine's Day the FTA held a bazaar. The group also sponsored several dances. The money raised from these projects was used for several activities. In the summer they sponsored a teacher's tea to welcome new teachers to Apollo and to welcome old teachers back. The FTA also sent two delegates, one of whom well could be Miss Future Teacher, and their sponsor to the Pennsylvania Future Teachers convention in Harrisburg; this is an annual project. A new social project was formed later in the year; the members decided to organize a bowling league for the special ed students.

The FTA officers for 1967-68 were Ann Guthrie, President; Cathy Rearick, Vice President; Mimi Rearick, Secretary; Jean Stefanik, Treasurer; and Christine Froncek, Historian. We hope that through the opportunities the FTA provides these students find the answers to their questions.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Much too often the young ladies of the F.H.A. are thought of as only being interested in home economics, but we must not fail to realize what an important role they play in and around our school. These girls meet bi-monthly and engage in such programs as listening to guest speakers, cooking, and sewing special projects.

In the past, as now, the sponsor of this group is the home economics teacher. From the beginning of school until November, Mrs. Linda Jo Moffit held this position. Due to the transfer of her husband to another job, Mrs. Moffit resigned in November. The new teacher and sponsor is now Mrs. Patricia Longwell. The officers of the F.H.A. are: President – Linda Visley, Vice President – Pam Hancock, Secretary – Pat Goedicke, and Treasurer – Karen Blair.

This year the girls had a bake sale which was very successful since they made their own contributions. Each year these girls have a special Christmas project. They obtain from Mrs. McCausland a list of needy children and they have a very special party for them. Every child receives one piece of clothing, one bought gift, one used toy, and a filled stocking which was made and served by the girls. As a special surprise, Santa usually makes the scene to present the gifts to the children. This year the party was held in the high school gym on December 9. As a special treat for the F.H.A., Mike Newton, a 1967 graduate of Apollo High, entertained the girls by demonstrating on a member his techniques of hair styling and the application of make-up. Mike is a student at the Pittsburgh Beauty Academy. The girls enjoyed this interesting kind of entertainment.

In order to raise money for award pins the F.H.A. also conducted Color Days. On these days, any girl wearing the color of the day was fined. The fines ranged from 0 to 5¢, and were assessed in proportion to the amount of the color the girls were wearing.

These girls should be congratulated for their efforts to help less fortunate people, and also for showing enough initiative to prepare themselves as Future Homemakers of America.

To create, maintain, and extend throughout home, school, and community high standards of Christian character is the platform by which the girls of the Tri-Hi-Y live all year. The Tri-Hi-Y has a very special meaning. The "Tri" – in – Tri-Hi-Y is derived from the platform which is also the threefold purpose of the Y.M.C.A. The "Hi" means high school girls and the "Y" stands for Y.M.C.A. Colors of the triangle are red, white, and blue which stand for pure thoughts and pure words along with pure deeds. The Tri-Hi-Y is a service organization under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Smith and has always been known in Apollo for its fine work in helping needy or elderly families.

With Vicki Lovisa – President; Kathy Williams – Vice President; Mary Ann Scott – Secretary; Christa Williams – Treasurer; and Alice Shockey – Chaplain, the Senior Tri-Hi-Y adopted an elderly couple in Apollo. The purpose of this is to remember them at different intervals with small remembrances. In addition to this project girls raised money through their candy sales to have the flags cleaned in the auditorium and to plant shrubs around the sign in front of the building.

Perhaps more than most of the other organizations, the Tri-Hi-Y can be described as a combination of service and fun. Because so many girls have displayed an interest in the club, the Tri-Hi-Y has been subdivided into seventh, eighth, and ninth grade groups.

A family in our area was much happier this Christmas and Thanksgiving due to the efforts of the Seventh Grade Tri-Hi-Y. For their service project this year, the club took it upon themselves to collect food and gifts for a needy family. Sponsored by Mrs. Black, the club sold calendar towels as a money-raising project. Presiding at this year's meetings was President Marsha Travaglia, with Jeannine Fennell serving as vice-president, Teresa Clark as secretary, Colleen Toland as treasurer, and Beth Curry as chaplain. They travelled to the Butler Sports Spectacular this year, where they competed against other schools for a trophy.

This year, the eighth grade Tri-Hi-Y, led by President Debby Kelly, Vice-president Terry Richey, Secretary Peggy Mumaw, Treasurer Leslie Williams, and Chaplain Jean Matarrese, worked at the Day Care Center at the Presbyterian Church. Besides planning games for entertainment, they also had a Christmas and Thanksgiving party for these children. The Tri-Hi-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Black, also took their traditional trip to Butler where they participated in sports, (basketball, volleyball, bowling, and swimming), speech, and art for a trophy.

The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y under the supervision of Mrs. Harris and its officers Renee Curci, president; Wendy Carney, vice president; Donna Bodenhorn, secretary; Judy Rearick, treasurer; and Sally Baker, chaplain finishes another year. The girls of this group collected 589 thread spools for Mrs. McCausland to give to the Day Care Classes and sponsored the collection of canned goods for the Salvation Army. Also, in addition to their service in helping other people, they adopted one adult and one teenager, which the organization helped throughout the year. One of their money-making projects was selling three different types of cook books. This group also attended the Butler Sports Spectacular.

As the reader can note, the Tri-Hi-Y's are active organizations. Because the girls of these clubs are hard-working and energetic, the Tri-Hi-Y's are among the most worthwhile organizations in our school.

The Junior Hi-Y is an organization for boys only. The sponsor is Mr. Leroy Martin. The group is directed by its officers: Sam Albert, President; John Anthony, Vice President; Jeff Dunmire, Secretary; Robbie Williamson, Treasurer; Bill Gallo, Chaplain; and Bob Barto, Sergeant-at-arms. Every spring the Hi-Y attends the sports spectacular at Butler. In order to defray the cost of this trip, the boys work hard at their various money making projects. One of the most popular and also most obvious of their projects was the sale of Apollo High School Tiger license plates. The success of this sale is obvious if one watches the automobiles on the highways in this area.

In the picture above there are some ninth grade boys; these boys and several other freshmen decided they would form a ninth grade Hi-Y. As soon as a sponsor was found, the ninth grade Hi-Y was organized and officers were elected. They are: Pony Davis, President; Mick Huskuliak, Vice President; Carmen Vergari, Secretary; Mike Bollinger, Treasurer; Jim Betch, Chaplain; George Stefaniak, Sergeant-at-arms. This group had its own money making projects; they shoveled snow and washed cars. The money they raised will be used to finance their first trip as a group to the sports spectacular. The sponsor of the new group is Mr. Edward Setlock. We wish this new group luck and continued growth in the future.

Often the students of Apollo High do not really appreciate the hard work our student librarians perform in assisting Mrs. Hill, their sponsor. These girls work on the average of two periods a week keeping the library clean, shelving and binding books, and, of course, preparing for the mad study hall rush.

Unlike most organizations the Library Club does not have regular meetings. Election of officers this year included; President – Kerry Carney; Vice President – Sandy Carney; and Secretary-Treasurer – Penny Brewer.

A member must work two years to receive a library pin. Each year, thereafter, they will receive a service guard with three or more years written on it.

Many of these students in the Junior High are finding that reading is not only rewarding but that it is also fun. They are doing this through the Book Club. Each month these students are able to make selections from a list containing a variety of books. This club is under the direction of Mr. Alter, and it provides members with interesting and educational material.

SPEECH AND DRAMATICS CLUB

Row 1: K. Rapasky, D. Jackson, R. Curry, S. Smeltzer, K. Crissman, D. Crissman, G. Smith, R. Curci, Mr. Schreffler. Row 2: P. Crow, C. Farineau, C. Albert, K. Felton, W. Gerheim, L. Fairman, E. Fryar, K. Hannaman, D. Duff, A. Guthrie, B. Frampton, P. Brayshaw, D. Uptegraph.

Combination of old and new – this statement would describe the Speech and Dramatics Club which replaced the former dramatics clubs, Thespians and Neapolitans. The club, sponsored by Mr. Schreffler, has united some of the old principles with some new and different ideas. Instead of the old point system whereby a person who had gained 10 points became and remained a Thespian, the new standards provide the students with an incentive to continue working and eliminates the "ten point Quitter". The new rules provide that any inactive member of the club can be dropped from the roll; active members are rewarded by free entrance to the annual spring banquet.

This year the club presented the play "Lock, Stock, and Lipstick" under the direction of Barb Mangiaficio. David Wray as Gordon Warren portrayed the woman-hating guidance counselor and Sharyn Pershing, who played Jane Gardner, was the female guidance counselor with whom Gordon, to his dismay, fell in love. Bobbie Lou Crosby and Bob Black provided the plot with comedy as they played the two custodians, Mrs. Maggs and Mr. Plunkett. Cathy Rearick and Duane Ross playing the part of yearbook editor Mary Lou Brennan and Business manager, Don Donley, added extra suspense when they brought $500 of the yearbook money to Miss Gardner, their advisor. The money came amiss, however, and Larry Donley, a hippie played by Ralph Smith, was accused of the theft. His girl friend Carol Izzard, portrayed by Linda Fairman, helped him prove his innocence. The principal Miss Sparcet and the geometry teacher Miss Prather played by Donna Eckman and Susie Shaner respectively, were always adding to the confusion. The theft was straightened out in the end, but not until Mrs. Donley played by Connie Bruggeman, caused Miss Sparcet to resign and Mrs. Warren to take over as the new principal of Pembroke High School.

The Speech and Dramatics Club also helped a community group, The Open Door, present the play "No Why." In February the club, along with the choir and English department, participated in the Lincoln Day Pageant. Some members were heard in the speaking chorus, the singing chorus, and also in individual speeches. This program was an attempt to bring a new form of entertainment to the community through the combined use of taped voices, unusual lighting, and Patriotic music.

Also helping in the Lincoln Day Assembly in both the speaking and technical ends was a new branch of the Speech and Dramatics Organization – the Broadcasting Club. This club comprised of Sophomores through Seniors was organized to relieve the office staff of the burden of making announcements during both morning and noon check-ins. These students also sit in the hall during their study halls to take care of unexpected announcements, which are generally handled by Mrs. Gibbons. Led by Bill Fryer, President, Mimi Rearick, Secretary, and Technician, Joe Fryar, The club performs the additional duty of recording a "Dateline Education" program which is presented over the local radio station, WAVL. Mr. Forsman and Mr. Schreffler advised these students in their initial year.

During this school year the students at Apollo High witnessed one of the most active student councils in several years. This student governing body was sponsored by Mr. Larson and they began working as soon as the school year began. Their first project was a continuation of a successful project from last year – taking student buses to football games played away. This season buses went to three away games, East Deer, Mars, and Oakmont. Another carry over project from last year was the practice of assigning student council members from the various study halls to sit in the hall to sign corridor passes. Then the student council began work on several new projects. The members decided that Apollo High needed a dress code, so they gathered suggestions, studied them, and finally drafted a tentative code. This code was distributed to all the students. The students read this copy and added any suggestions or changes which they felt were needed. The new suggestions were considered and a final copy of the code was submitted to the School Board for their approval. The Council had already decided that the code would not be mandatory but would be simply a guideline for the students. The School Board approved the code. Another Student Council project which needed approval of the School Board was the establishment of an Honor Roll for the students in the Junior and Senior High. After much work and revision the Student Council gained School Board approval to begin an Honor Roll on an experimental basis. To qualify for this new Honor Roll students must have a 3.0 average. The Student Council hopes this experiment is a success and that an Honor Roll will become a permanent fixture at Apollo High. But still the Council was not satisfied; they were sure they could do more. Thus a decision was made to reactivate the Mardi Gras. Booths and bazaars were planned along with a big dance. It has been at least six years since a Mardi Gras was held in the school. The Student Council has also participated in an exchange program with Elderton. Our group visited Elderton as the guests of their Student Council and had an opportunity to see what Elderton's group had been doing. Later the Elderton Student Council visited Apollo as the guests of our Student Council. The purpose of exchanges like this is to give the participating groups new ideas which they can try to adapt to their own school situations.

Our hyperactive Student Council was lead this year by President Colleen Albert, Vice President Rosa Matarresse, and Secretary-Treasurer Jackie Lamanna. Members of the Student Council are elected and every home room in both the Junior and the Senior High is represented. Each home room is entitled to one representative and one alternate. These boys and girls have established a record which succeeding students will have a difficult time duplicating let alone surpassing.

PROJECTION CLUB

The purpose of the Projection Club, sponsored by Mr. Salvadori, is instruction in the use of audio-visual aids. These aids, including movie projectors, tape recorders, and overhead projectors, are used to supplement ordinary classroom materials. The members, boys in grades ten through twelve, offer assistance to teachers who lack experience in using the aids. The club members also help conduct some assemblies. Although the club is not well known outside the school, inside, both the teachers and the students acknowledge and appreciate its abilities.

ART CLUB

The Art Club under the sponsorship of Mr. Lucas uses all activity periods to prepare their various projects. One of these projects was the Christmas show in the Art Room held on December 15. The Art Club and the Art Classes made different projects to insure the success of the show. Many different Christmas articles were offered for sale at this show. A Christmas Party planned prior to Christmas vacation did not materialize. To accumulate money in their treasury, the club held a car wash during Easter vacation. In February graduation plates went on sale for the Seniors. Money from these projects was used to purchase display boards for the annual Art Show held in the spring. As usual the show was a huge success. The Art Club had only one social project this year – a weiner roast in October. The Club's members worked hard to make these and other projects possible. The Art Club changes officers each semester because of constitutional rule. The first semester officers were: President, Richard Smith; Vice President, Jackie Lamanna; Secretary, Christine Froncek; Treasurer, Denny Vittone; Social Chairman, Bob Poydence. The officers of the second semester were: President, Jackie Lamanna; Vice President, Denise Chiatello; Secretary, Carol Mangiaficio; Treasurer, Lois McCauley; Social Chairman, Keith Hannaman.

What's the Scoop?

TIGER GAZETTE

Production of a monthly paper is a difficult task in a high school which has no journalism classes. Still the Tiger Gazette newspaper staff accurately records facts and interesting aspects of the school life and activities of the students. Through the Tiger Gazette students can conveniently keep informed about club activities, spectacular events, and the outstanding achievements of class members and those comprising the faculty and administration.

When a student joins the Tiger Gazette, he is asked to volunteer his services for one of the five staffs. Mrs. Carolyn Boyd, the club's sponsor, aptly oversees and advises the forty-some staff members in gathering and organizing material, and co-ordinating the staffs. The Feature Staff, editor – Pat Bollinger, is in charge of the senior interviews concerning personality traits, likes and dislikes of the senior class members, as well as having responsibility for the extra pages. It is the job of the Advertising Staff, editor – Debbie Travaglia, to inform the student body every month of the exact date the school newspaper goes on sale; on this day, the Circulation Staff, editor – Jill Walker, distributes the paper to the various home rooms in the junior and senior high and to the teachers. All football games, basketball games, track meets, and other stories about sports events or participants are handled by the Sports Staff, editor – Barb Mangiaficio. Mrs. Boyd is aided in typing copies of each month's articles by the Typing and Exchange Staff, editor – Colleen Albert, who also sees to it that papers are sent to schools with which we carry on a newspaper-exchange program every month and to the businesses which have subscribed to ads in the 1967-68 issues. Supervising the work of these staffs is the Executive Staff. The Executive Staff is comprised of Chuckie Hone, editor-in-chief; Barb Mangiaficio, assistant editor; and Jane Ferrero, business manager.

This year the club has undertaken several projects. Before Christmas the Tiger Gazette sponsored its second annual "Christmas in Apollo High" contest. The winners in this door decoration competition were home rooms 202 and 20. The money these rooms won was donated to their respective class treasuries. Following Christmas the T.G. Staff sponsored a collection of Christmas cards which are being used in missionary programs abroad.

Membership on the school newspaper is hard work. All the members must write articles. The reward for this effort arrives each month when the student sees his article in print. Without the cooperation of the entire staff, the Tiger Gazette could not be produced.

Mission: Impossible

KISKITAS

Jean Stefanik

The 1968 Kiskitas is the result of the combined effort of the Kiskitas Business Staff supervised by Mrs. Odessa Smith and the Kiskitas Literary Staff supervised by Miss Judy Arnal. Under the leadership of Editor-in-Chief Jean Stefanik, the senior and junior staffs eagerly worked and sometimes frantically struggled together to meet all of the deadlines. The literary staff, headed by editors Charlene Hone and Ruth Ann Brayshaw, was in charge of club articles. Barb Mangiaficio as sports editor followed athletic events throughout the year. For the most part the layouts and divider pages were the results of planning by Richard Smith, art editor. Photography editor Tim Truby assisted Mr. Shaffer the school photographer.

Concurrently the Business Staff completed their work. In the summer they collected money for the ads which appear in the yearbook and which help defray the cost of the book. During the school year they held subscription drives, sold peanut butter and Christmas candles. This year the Business Staff also sponsored a Ten or More Club in an effort to gain patrons for the yearbook. The Business Staff was led this year by Business Manager Kathy Knepshield, Advertising Manager Jim Waltenbaugh, and Subscription Manager Dale Jackson.

This yearbook was the result of much team effort. Often the work of each staff overlapped and each person co-operated often above and beyond the call of duty. But even though the final result was a team effort, there are some individuals who deserve special recognition. All of the editors deserve praise for their ability to work together and on their own initiative. David Wray and Mitch Fryer spent much time recopying the layouts, and it was Bob Black who designed the unusual layout for the gym exhibition. Kathy Burns, Ann Guthrie, and Candy Neal gave up several Sunday afternoons to rewrite club articles; David Wray also helped to rewrite, along with Vicki Lovisa. Bob Shoemaker cropped most of the pictures and helped to think up original captions for pictures. Kathy Felton and Jane Ferrero did an excellent job typing some rather difficult copy. And last but not least David Columbus managed to do the rather tedious job of double checking all of the pictures and the copy for the first three deadlines and with a smile. Also, several teachers deserved the special thanks of the Kiskitas Staff. We wish to thank Mr. Afanesko and Mrs. Smith for their work in the lunchstand. Mr. Alter and Mrs. Black helped identify the junior high pictures and we appreciate their efforts. The unusual layout for the Art Club was designed by Mr. Lucas. Mr. Lucas also took the Art Club pictures and the pictures of the participants in the Lincoln Day Program. We would also like to thank Mr. Davis for allowing us considerable school time to take the pictures used in this book, and we thank the entire faculty for their co-operation. Finally we would like to thank our sponsors for their patience, cooperation, and effort. They spent many hours helping us make this year's Kiskitas a book the whole student body would enjoy.

Science is an important part of modern life. The boys of the seventh and eighth grade science clubs accept this statement wholeheartedly. They meet on the second and fourth Fridays of every month to further their interest in science. The eighth graders met during the first semester; the seventh graders met during the second. Officers for the eighth grade group were: Jim Cramer, President; Lawrence Stokes, Vice President; Jim Klingensmith, Secretary; and Dennis Criswell, Treasurer. And the seventh grade officers were: Ed Newton, President; John Kunkle, Secretary; and Randy Akins, Treasurer. Both groups built rockets. Some of the boys also assembled engines. The many projects of these active groups can be seen in Mr. Kier's room.

For the third year, Mr. Robert Kasuba, senior mathematics instructor at Apollo High School, has accepted the post of sponsor of the Apollo High Chess Club. The club had dissolved in 1963 from a lack of teacher interest, but was revived in 1965 when Mr. Kasuba decided the school needed a club of this sort.

The club itself is rather unique. Its membership consists of students who either know or who are interested in learning how to play the game of chess as a competitive sport. They meet each Tuesday during activity period for this purpose. At the end of the year three awards are given to the best players in the club. The officers this year are President — Marty Fennell; Vice-President — David Ortiz; and Secretary-Treasurer — Bob Black.

This year the club tried to set up a match with New Kensington but had no success. Now they are waiting to hear from Valley High School to arrange a ten board chess tournament. There will be two chess teams: Team A — five boards and Team B — five boards. Valley High School is waiting to hear from the Pittsburgh Chess League before they can make any arrangements with our chess club.

To develop the physical well being through a weight training program is the purpose of the Physical Fitness Club, another new group at Apollo High this year. This club sponsored by Mr. Elmer Morgan and Mr. Edward Setlock is composed of 100 members, all boys. The boys are in grades 9 through 12. These boys met on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday after school in the adaptive gym. Sometimes they meet during activity period, also. The officers who led the group in their initial year and who were elected by the members were: Denny Vittone, President; Bob Rau, Vice President; Denny Difilippo, Secretary; Alan Cricks, Treasurer; and Keith Hannaman, Public Relations. Several of the members donated training equipment for the use of the club. In order to purchase more needed equipment the members were assessed dues of one dollar. Enthusiasm ran high among the group's members this year and we hope it will continue so in the future.

BAND

Swing those arms! Lift those feet! These familiar expressions were heard frequently during the summer as the Apollo High School Tiger Marching Band prepared for a brand new football season. The band, majorettes, and color guard, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Kennedy, practiced long and hard to make this season one of their best. In addition to football games, the band performed at the Alle-Kiski Band Festival and at our local Halloween Parade.

Mr. Kennedy, the band instructor for 1967-68, had many new plans to initiate at Apollo. He set up a system whereby eligible members of the band were awarded stripes and designated titles such as captain, lieutenant, sergeant and corporal. He also helped organize a band executive council consisting of students of each grade. This group, which rewrote the band constitution, made many of the major decisions associated with the band. A third group of band members, called the Brass Ensemble, was also a "first" this year. These musicians accompanied the Chorus in their Christmas program.

In order to raise funds for their awards, the band held a bake sale, sponsored a Tag Day, sold T-shirts and were hosts to a Clarion College Concert program on April 1. They also practiced all winter in order to present their own spring concert consisting of favorite tunes such as "Hawaii" and "Marching Down Main."

Our band proudly sent two members, Lois McCauley and Betty Stefanik to Honors Band. Representing Apollo at District Band were: Jean Stefanik and David Ortiz.

The band has done much to spread enthusiasm throughout our school. They deserve much credit and recognition for a job well done!

DRUM MAJOR

For the second time in the history of Apollo High School, a drum major has led the band in public performances. This year, Dawna Troutman made a beautiful appearance in her black velvet outfit trimmed in white ostrich feathers. Her baton routines were also very clever and unique. We will never forget Dawna for a job well done!

VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY MAJORETTES

Much practice and preparation is behind every catchy routine done by the majorettes. These girls began early last summer trying to prepare better entertainment for their fans. It isn't necessary to say that this year's squad was successful, for we were all pleased with their results.

In pep assembly the majorettes made their first appearance in black and white plaid jackets and black skirts. The majorettes earned the money to purchase these new pep assembly uniforms by conducting a tag day.

The majorettes also worked with the band when they performed at the New Kensington Band Festival and at the annual Halloween Parade in Apollo. We appreciate their exceptional work.

The Junior Varsity Majorettes do all they can to pattern themselves after the Varsity Squad. They got experience by performing the same routines the Varsity Majorettes do, hoping that some day they will become a member of the Varsity Squad. During the Elders Ridge game, the JV's got to perform with the Varsity during the special half-time activities. The Junior Varsity Majorettes gained much practical experience from this performance.

The junior high students also frequently appear in the school headlines. Prep Band, composed of students from the seventh and eighth grades, meets once a week for rehearsals under the direction of Mr. Thomas Kennedy. The purpose of the Prep Band is to give its members experience in playing and marching and to prepare them for their future roles in the Senior High Band. This experience is gained by marching at one football game, Elders Ridge, and by giving a Spring Concert on April 26, 1968. Prep Band members certainly deserve a lot of credit, for the continuance and success of the Senior High Band depends upon them.

Do-re-mi-fa-so-la-ti-do! As the chorus warmed up at the beginning of the year, the members had no idea that 1967-1968 would be one of the most successful school years in Apollo High's musical history. Much of the credit for this success goes to the new director Mrs. Russell. Since her arrival in August, the choir has grown steadily and now we are really proud to present our new and improved choir of 67-68. The success of the choir this year is also due to the group itself, and their officers: President Ruth Ann Brayshaw, Vice-President Lois McCauley, Secretary Vicki Lovisa, and Treasurer Cindy Walker.

As usual the choir sent representatives to county chorus. This year Leechburg hosted the singers. Those students representing Apollo were: Ruth Ann Brayshaw, Jackie Swenson, Mimi Rearick, Lois McCauley, John Bowser, David Ortiz, Bill Kerr, Richard Smith, Marty Fennell, Keith Hannaman, Fred Buchner, and Robert Cline.

The choir also participated in many assemblies for the student body. During the year two public concerts were presented, one in December and one in May. The May Concert was substituted for the operetta the choir has done in the past. Both were attended and acclaimed by many of the townspeople. "They seemed so like professionals," many were heard to say. The members of the chorus combined patriotism and compassion for the physically handicapped, when they collaborated with the Speech and Dramatics Club to present "Lincoln in Memoriam," a salute to one of America's great Presidents. All the money donated by the people who attended the Memoriam was in turn donated to the United Cerebral Palsy Home in Spring Church. In spite of cold weather, many people attended this pageant and a sum of $127 was presented by Mr. Davis to the Cerebral Palsy Representative.

In order to raise money, the choir sold "Apollo Tiger" sweatshirts. The demand for the sweatshirts was so overwhelming that it was necessary for the choir to place a second order. A money making project was necessary because the concerts presented by the chorus are admission free to the public. The money raised through the sale of these shirts will be used to purchase the awards presented to the chorus at the end of the year.

An enthusiastic response was earned by the chorus for its presentation in May, which consisted of songs and scenes from several Broadway musicals.

Mrs. Russell and the members of the chorus devoted many hours of practice in and out of school to insure the success of these endeavors. They deserve much recognition and praise for their diligent and outstanding work.

OCTETTE

M. Rearick, P. Shank, J. Swenson, B. Crosby, R. Brayshaw, V. Lovisa, S. Pershing, C. Rearick.

This year, as in the past we have a special female vocal group. In previous years the group has consisted of six members, but this year the number has been increased to eight and the name has been changed to the Octette.

No officers were chosen since the group is a subsidiary of the senior high choir.

The members of the Octette are Pete Brayshaw, Bobbie Lou Crosby, Vicki Lovisa, Jackie Swenson, Peggy Shank, Mimi Rearick, Cathy Rearick, and Sharyn Pershing, all of whom are seniors. The girls made their own outfits, white wool A-line dresses with red bows.

The Octette sang for the Christmas program for the town, the Christmas assembly for the school, and for various organizations throughout the town.

You're never too young – so the saying goes – and this is exactly how the Prep Chorus members feel. These seventh and eighth grade students practice and prepare each Friday during activity period for the day when they can become members of the senior high choir. This year, the prep chorus sang both in the Christmas assembly for the high school in December and in the spring assembly in May.

Mrs. Katheleen Russell, who directs the choir, said that she had an exceptionally enthusiastic group this year. It's a real delight for our school to see these young people appear on the stage and raise their voices for all to hear.

Sure, I'm just a little bit better.

The trick is to look sophisticated.

Would you please hurry up. I'm hungry!!!

APOLLO – "How It Manages to Keep It's Teenagers Occupied" by Mimi Rearick

As you all know, our little town of Apollo is just booming with action. Places to go, things to see, things to do, are so plentiful that teenagers have to rob jewelry stores in order to have something to do on a Saturday night. Causing trouble is the only way we know of letting the "voting" citizens of Apollo know that there are bored teenagers ready to take over their town. The places for us teens to go are so few that I could fully describe them to you in this informal essay.

First of all and best of all is the bowling alley. Although sitting on the outskirts of our fair city, it is worth the risk of walking the main highway to get there. Every Friday is repetition. We arrive at 8:30, go to the girl's room until 8:45, and spend the next hour waiting for the leagues to finish. Of course, we eat enough to feed an army while we are waiting. Finally, it is time to bowl. Omitting the rental of proper bowling shoes, we proceed to find our black and red, No. 563 bowling ball in our bare feet. Since we were so disgusted at our scores, we decide to quit after the first game. We find that we each have 45 cents in nickels left and there is 40 minutes of time remaining on the clock hiding in the left hand corner. After eating until we are too full to slide out of the booth, we dejectedly phone our "taxi-cab" mothers and call it a night.

Searching for a variety in entertainment, we decide to spend Saturday night at the skating rink. It's strategic location is about 100 yards up the road from the bowling alley. We open the side door of the rink and are blinded by the dust. Trying to associate with the "dirt dwellers", we discover that every hoodlum in the area has made his way to the rink this Saturday. We sit down at the counter and eat every kind of food available. Again disgusted we go home and shower, wash our hair, and blow our noses in order to again look like White American youths instead of refugees.

Directly in our town we could go the hoagie shop, the Union House, or the Dairy. All of which manage to add ten unneeded pounds to our youthful figures.

Maybe I am just complaining because I was not born a male. Just think, if I were a boy, I could spend my time in such cultural centers as Pap's "smoke house" or the distinguished pool hall.

Sufficient recognition is seldom given to the fifteen men who make up the Apollo Area School Board of Education. This group, which strives to provide and maintain the basis for Apollo's high standard of education, is composed of five members from each district. The members, who come from Apollo, Kiski Township, and North Apollo, are elected for terms of six years.

Each member serves on at least one of the various committees that are found in the organization. These committees include Personnel, Building and Grounds, Supplies and Equipment, Policy, Budget and Finance, and Transportation. Doing their jobs together these men insure a competent staff, properly cared for grounds, and a full and adequate series of activities and organizations with funds acquired through taxes.
